MISTRIAL IN THE HARDY-CROUT SUIT

Jury Unable to Agree and Mistrial Ordered Last Night by Judge Wilson

After deliberating for several hours and up until 10 o'clock last night without being able to arrive at a verdict, the jury in the Hardy-Croust suit made report to His Honor, Judge John S. Wilson, that they could not agree and the Judge ordered a mistrial.

This case has been, throughout, one of the most interesting civil actions heard in Anderson county in a long time. The suit was between Miss L. C. Hardy, an aged lady, and J. D. Croust, and was over 430 acres of land situated in Savannah township. The wrangle was caused by a hill of sale, said to have been executed for the sum of $10,000.

The trial has drawn large crowds to the court house since Monday and the legal talent arrayed on each side of the case has put forth every effort. The arguments heard from the attorneys in the case were said to have been some of the best ever heard in the Anderson county court.

Following the conclusion of the above case, the court yesterday afternoon turned its attention to the case of J. T. Roberts versus an insurance company. Little headway was made in this case before the hour for adjournment arrived and it is probable that this hearing will continue the better part of the forenoon session of court.

Abbeville Man Among Visitors.

Rev. J. B. Hillhouse, pastor of Lebanon and other Presbyterian churches in Abbeville county, is attending the Sunday School convention. His love for children and music naturally attracts him to a meeting of this kind. Many citizens here will be interested to know that he is one of the younger sons of Rev. Joseph B. Hillhouse, who, with Gen. Ellison Capers, afterwards bishop, established a school here for "higher education" in 1855, and ran it for a year or two. Some of the older people will remember hearing of his grandfather, Rev. Joseph Hillhouse, who was the advance agent of domestic missionary work in this section, and from about 1825 to 1855, the year of his death, carried the consolations of religion in marriages, in baptizing, and in deaths, to the scattered Presbyterians through the county now located as Anderson, Oconee and Pickens counties. Two of Mr. Hillhouse's great-grandfathers were captains in the Revolutionary war. One of them, Captain John Hillhouse received his bounty in land in 1897, and it was located in the immediate vicinity of Orr Mills, where he lies buried in the old cemetery. This historical name should be better known in Anderson county.

Mission Worker in the City.

Among the most interesting visitors to Anderson for this week is Obadiah Dugan of Charleston, founder and superintendent of the Star Gospel Mission of that city. Mr. Dugan and his associates have undertaken a great work in Charleston and the fruits of their labors are evident on every hand in the "City by the Sea." These earnest men have done much for the cause of the gospel with that class of people who otherwise would never have been induced to attend religious worship of any kind. Mr. Dugan is very optimistic for the future and says that what has been done is not a circumstance to what will eventually be accomplished.

At Lebanon School Next Thursday.

Next Thursday is being anticipated with much interest on the part of both patrons and pupils of the Lebanon school. On that day the farm demonstrators from Clemson College will be in attendance and will deliver helpful and instructive addresses, showing the pupils in detail the best manner of getting results. In connection with this feature will be the meeting of the Rural School Improvement Association, which will serve dinner on the grounds. Several splendid speakers will be present, two of these being W. H. Hand and James Padgett, and these gentlemen will explain the bond issue. It is urged that every one who can possibly do so be in attendance.

Smith Family Is In Bad.

D. L. Smith and his son, H. R. Smith, were last night taken in charge by Deputy Sheriff Sanders and committed to jail on a charge of having beat up D. F. Quales, who is D. L. Smith's son-in-law. Quales made complaint before Magistrate Broadwell a few days ago that the two Smiths had jumped on him, one of them using a pair of brass knuckles, and doing him serious injury. It is probable that their case will be called before Magistrate Broadwell at an early date.

Inspection Of New School.

The school trustees yesterday afternoon visited and inspected the new Glenn street school and expressed themselves as being much pleased with it. A few minor details yet remain to be attended to, after which the school will be formally accepted from the contractors. It is understood that the new building will not be put into use until the sewerage system is installed, which will probably take a month.

Next Sunday With Ice Quits.

Those Anderson people who are accustomed to coming down town on Sunday morning to see a shoe shine, a newspaper, and a morning "dope" will be sadly disappointed if they try it next Sunday. Chief of Police Lee yesterday served notice on all news stands, book shops and drug stores that there will be nothing doing next Sunday, as, in accordance with wishes of city council, the "blue laws" will be in effect.

Adams Show Soon Opens.

O. L. Adams, who winters his show in Anderson, said yesterday that he expected to open his season this year on March 14, and that in all probability he would have to go to North Anderson, outside the city limits, since he can secure no suitable site within the city. He says that he has for this year a bigger and better line of attractions than he has ever shown before and that he is expecting a very successful season.

Age Was No Bar.

Evidently in some "courting circles" age is bar and the fact that Cupid plays no favorites was demonstrated yesterday afternoon when John P. Crawford, 57 years of age, was married to Miss Nancy E. Cooper, also 57. The ceremony was performed at the Orville Methodist parsonage and Rev. W. T. Belvin officiated.

Two Services At Hopewell.

Announcement was made yesterday that Rev. O. L. Martin will preach, both Sunday morning and Sunday evening at Hopewell church. A cordial invitation has been extended to the public at large of that section to worship with the Hopewell church at these two services.

Charter For Elks Home.

R. M. McCown, secretary of State, yesterday granted a charter to the Elks Home Holding Company of Anderson, capitalized with $10,000. The officers are named as W. L. Brisson, president; C. F. Ross, vice-president, and W. S. Beatty, secretary and treasurer. The purpose of the company is to erect an Elks home in Anderson and it is understood that ground will be broken for the new building within the next few days.

Anderson Goods On Sunken Ship.

Anderson is always represented in some manner at anything that may occur, either fortunate or unfortunate, and such was the case when the unfortunate Monroe sank in Chesapeake Bay a short time ago. The records at the local office of the C. & W. C. Railway show that B. Fishman & Brother had consigned a large package of patterns to the May Pattern Co., of Newark, N. J., and that this shipment went down on the ill-fated ship. So far as is known, this is the only shipment of goods from this city lost on the Monroe.

Young Man Is Recovering.

Anderson people were glad to see Albert Hawkins of Townville, in the city yesterday. Mr. Hawkins has been quite ill with typhoid fever since November and at one time it was feared that he might not recover. He is a son of Rev. W. B. Hawkins of Townville, and one of his brothers died a short time ago with this disease.

Newspaper Man Among Delegates.

Among the interesting delegates in the city for the Sunday School convention is A. L. Gossett, editor of the Tugaloo Tribune of Westminster. Mr. Gossett is an able Sunday school worker in his town and is prominent in church work. He also gives the people of Westminster a splendid newspaper which they appreciate.

Greenwood Man In the City.

Among the best known of the visitors in Anderson for the week is Kenneth Baker, formerly mayor of Greenwood. Mr. Baker is one of the most progressive citizens of the State and his friends in every town in South Carolina. He is prominent in both business and fraternal circles and likewise has a wide range of acquaintances. Mr. Baker was recently elected president of the Greenwood Chamber of Commerce.

Thirty Years of Schooling.

Superintendent of one Sunday school for the space of 30 years and then directed to serve again for that same length of time is the record held by John R. McGee of Due West, one of the visitors in Anderson for the Sunday School convention. Mr. McGee says that he has been in Sunday school work so long that if he did not have Sunday morning to look forward to life would hardly be worth living.

Late Arrival to Convention.

One of the late arrivals to the Sunday School convention is Rev. J. W. Shell, pastor of the Limestone Street Methodist church of Gaffney. Mr. Shell arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and is already taking a prominent part in the convention. Mr. Shell is one of the best known Methodist ministers in the Piedmont section and he was receiving a warm welcome from many friends yesterday.

Charging Cruelty.

Atlanta, Feb. 11.—The evidence about useless cruelty in the Fulton county convict camps is getting worse and worse as the grand jury investigation continues, but in justice to the state prison commission and to the general situation throughout the state it is beginning to appear at the same time more and more evident that conditions in some of the Fulton camps under the Donaldson regime emphatically do not reflect general conditions throughout the state.

If the evidence of the convicts is true, a point which remains to be decided, the Fulton guards have been given a free rein in the exercise of cruelty to the prisoners and in some instances have been encouraged.

The witnesses tell of scenes which place the Fulton camps literally on a par with the Russian prisons. John Cox, a negro, in the course of a letter made public today tells of how he was whipped regularly once a week, and how when he complained of the guards Capt. Tom Donaldson only issued orders for them to whip him until he was as a piece of beef.

"One time I was 'bucked,' the negro said, "that means I was handcuffed, my hands put over my knees and a pick handle put between my arms and legs, making it impossible to move in any way. Then I was whipped for at least half an hour. I could not count many lashes, but I must have been thirty to fifty. I am taking a big risk in making this statement for fear of them getting even with me after this is over."

Columbia, Feb. 12.—The governor sent his first veto message of the session to the house Thursday. The act vetoed referred to the time in which the coupons for certain bonds could be presented for payment.

SUPERINTENDENTS HAD FINE MEETING.

Luncheon Served 175 in the Dining Hall of St. John's Church.

One of the striking features of the 37th annual Sunday School convention was the luncheon served last night to the visiting superintendents by the superintendents of the Sunday schools in Anderson. There was 175 men gathered in the dining room in St. John's Methodist church, and after a delightful meal served by the ladies of the church, Mr. Sims of Georgia, by appointment, took charge of the meeting and drilled it delightfully for about 40 minutes. He had prepared a list of questions to be asked by the superintendents. When he got into deep water, he called upon Mrs. Bryner and others to assist him. This gracious and remarkable woman gave the men answers to their questions that made everything plain before them, and the work of the superintendents for the coming year will be much lightened. Miss Vandiver tried to get a flashlight photo of the gathering, for she said it was the finest thing of its kind in the history of the State convention.

Mr. Sims in his electrifying way said that a superintendent must have something new for every Sunday. He must do more than give out the hymns and the Scripture, and he must vary the manner in which the scripture reading is presented. He must keep the school moving. He must look upon the Sunday school as something very much alive. He recommended the use of special days, about 52 a year. "Vary" was a strong word with him.

This session was made very enjoyable by Mr. Sims asking the assembled men to grant him one favor before he started. All gravely waited to hear what the favor was. "Introduce yourself to the man just on your right." When this was done amid much laughter and good feeling, he requested the men to make themselves known to the men across the table. And it made them all feel very much at home.

NOTES OF THE CONVENTION.

One of the noteworthy ministers in attendance at the convention this week is the Rev. E. Cullom Grimshaw, pastor of the Congregational church of Charleston. Mr. Grimshaw is a graduate of Oxford College, England, and is a most cultured and scholarly minister. In addition to this he has been extensively engaged as a chautauqua lecturer, giving up this work entirely as the demands upon his time increased from his pastoral work. His church is the only Congregational church in South Carolina, and since Mr. Grimshaw's connection with it, his life has been engendered, especially in Sunday school work, in which he is a leader. Mr. Grimshaw came to Charleston from Hammond, La., two years ago and is well-liked with Charleston and her people. He also expresses himself as much pleased with the evidence of growth and progressiveness of Anderson and the entire Piedmont section of South Carolina, and says if he did not love Charleston so much he would feel tempted to rent his lot with the progressives of this section of the State.

Paul K. Corley, of Ruffin, arrived in the city yesterday to attend the Sunday School convention. Mr. Corley was for many years State secretary of the R. F. D. Carriers' association for South Carolina.

The fee of 50 cents charged of each person who registers as a delegate to the convention goes to the convention treasury. The Anderson local committee has nothing to do with that. The fee pays for the badge, for the enrollment, for the invited speakers and singers, and for the State magazine published by Miss Vandiver.

Among the visitors to the convention is the Rev. Dr. H. H. Law, of Spartanburg, who for many years has been the secretary for this State of the American Bible Society. Dr. Law is one of the most highly educated men in the South and has been State clerk of the South Carolina Synod for a generation. He is the father of Mrs. Frank Watkins of this city.

Prof. J. W. Thomson of Winthrop College, head of the great pedagogical department of that wonderful institution, says he admires Anderson very much. There were 14 girls from this great county in the graduating class at Winthrop last year. There are over 40 from this county enrolled there this year. Prof. Thomson is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Farmer.

Rev. Francis W. Gregg of Rock Hill, was pleased to know that his host and hostess here were Mr. and Mrs. John A. Neely, formerly of Rock Hill and of Mr. Gregg's church. Mr.

Neely has but recently moved to Anderson and is already identified with the best interests of this city. He has two sons in the Presbyterian College at Clinton.

Mr. Waters of Florence, one of the conspicuous workers of the Pee Dee section, came over from Greenwood yesterday, as he had stopped over there to visit his sons in the B. M. I. Mr. Waters, and others who have ridden over the Interurban declare that it is the greatest thing they ever saw.

Among the splendid men attending the convention are Mr. C. W. Tune and Mr. W. L. Gray of Laurens, men always found in the front ranks of church work. Mr. Gray is a merchant and farmer and banker, and Mr. Tune is also a banker. On the way over they visited Mr. Gray's brother, Mr. D. P. Gray, of Williamston.

Mr. H. J. Haynsworth, who presided over the great inter-state convention of the M. M. C. A. at Greenville last Saturday night and introduced Joseph Daniels to 300 men there present at a banquet, is one of the delegates to the convention.

Elias Earle of Townville, made quite a hit at the banquet at St. John's church last night when he answered the question "What shall we do with our late teacher problem?" "Get another," was his answer that brought down the house. He explained this by saying that he had been told by an old preacher never to run after a train or a woman. Another would come along soon enough.

The Daily Intelligencer modestly wishes to acknowledge a number of compliments paid by the delegates, large and at large, and by the visitors, including Dr. Williamson, Mr. Durham and others.

Ex-Mayor Kenneth Baker of Greenwood, recently elected the new head of the Chamber of Commerce of that city, is here as a delegate. He, as mayor was the host of the convention when it met in his city.

Mr. W. B. Cokburn, a man who is always for the right in Edgefield, is in the city. He has been clerk of court there for many years.

Mr. R. S. Galloway, editor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian and one of the very best men in all the land, is here for the convention. He came over with Dr. Moffatt, president of Erskine College, one of the most gifted pulpits orators in America, who was on the program last night for the invocation.

One of the most earnest seekers of information is Mr. D. M. Varn of Colleton county, a former member of the State legislature. He is proud of the great work his county has been doing. Mr. J. B. Harris of Oconee, and Mr. J. Rutledge Conner of Berkeley, are also former members of the legislature attending the convention.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring back color, gloss and thickness with Grandma's recipe of Sage and Sulphur.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair; mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a loss of time.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not what we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

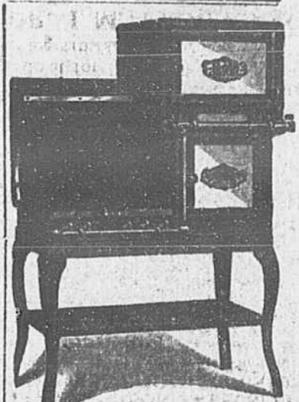

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.

"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since I have been keeping house," says L. C. Hames of Barbours, Ala. "I consider it one of the best remedies I ever used. My children have all taken it, and it works like a dream. For colds and whooping cough it is excellent." For sale by Evans Pharmacy.
